AN OPEN LETTER TO GOVERNOR

Pajare Valley. April 5th, 1873—To His Excellency Newton Booth, Governor of the State of California—Sir: The undersigned, in behalf of themselves and of hundreds of other law-abiding citizens of this district, wish to draw the attention of your Excellency in a particular manner to the late terrible outrage committed by a lawless mob near the town of Monterey, on the 17th day of March last, manner to the mitted by a lawless mob near the town of Monterey, on the 17th day of March last, where, in defiance of all law, they, in open daylight, broke open the jail, took from its prisoner named Matthew Tarpey and strangled him to death. What makes this outrage the more startling is that the perpetrators seek no concealment, but publicly acknowledge their part in the transaction. The mob was almost entirely organized in the town of Watsonville, where it was armed and equipped by a few wealthy men, who had been for years bitter private foes of the hanged mas.

The telegraph wireshere and at Salinas

City were also in the hands of Taipey's personal bitter enemies, and showed their terrible power to arouse and enrage the people to lawlessness and bloodshed flooding the county with lying and grossly exaggerated dispatches. Judge Belden, universally respect and esteemed by our citizens, was holding court at Salinas City at the very time the outrage was committed, but found himself poweries to stay the vicious crowd.

Matthew Tarpey had been a citizen of criess to stay the vicious crowd.

Matthew Tarpey had been a citizen of Santa Cruz county for the last twenty years, and his friends to-day challenge his enemies to point out one single act of his, during all that time, unworthy of a good citizen, a good husband and a good father. Some years ago, the same men who now succeeded in effecting his destruction raised a fund to procure his prosecution and prove him guilty of aidmen who now succeeded in reflecting his destruction raised a fund to procure his prosecution and prove him guilty of aiding in frands on the naturalization laws, but failed in doing so; otherwise there never has beed any attempt to impeach his character for truth and honesty in any manner whatever. His word was ever as good as the bond of the wealthjest man in the county. He never incurred a debt that was not promptly met at maturity, and although he had amassed property to the amount of some $75,000, no one can point out one act of injustice committed by him while doing so, and at the time of his death his outstanding debts did not reach $200. He was ever ready to assist others who were in difficulty in the most disinterested manner. He was bold and brave to almost a fault, he was fearless in his demandation of fraud and wrong of every description, no matter who the perpetrators might be, whether in low or high positions in the community. He sought no favors for himself, either from the community at arge or from private individuals. When a wrong was done he scorned the idea of holding his tongue for the aske of gaining favors or popularity of any sort. This characteristic it was that brought upon him the intense enmity of wealthy and influential men in our community, whose acts, whether justly or unjustly, he scanned with an unsparing tongue which nothing could conclude.

About five years ago the farmers of this self, and finally yielded up everything to the mob fully in accordance with their serious errors from terrible depredations; several thieves were arrested by the committee and handed over to the authorities of Santa Cruz and Monterey counties; some few were killed in open fair fight, numbers field the country, and the result was that horse-stealing has been unknown in our district for the last two years. The committee never undertook to execute the crimnals they captured except in one solitary instance, where three notorious thives were hung from the bridge over Pajaro river in the town of Watsonville, in the darkness of night. At the time of this hanging Matthew Tarpey was absent in San Francisco and had nothing whatever to do with the transaction. While the committee was in active operation not a single act of theirs was condemned by the people of either country, with this one exception, nor can the enamies of Matthew Tarpey now point to any specific act of his while in connection with that committee worthy of condemnation, while the farmers and stockraisers of the whole district must acknowledge themselves greatly in his debt for the energy and courage he sver displayed in their defense.

The terrible depredations; several themob fully in accordance with the mob fully in accordance with themob fully in accordance with themob fully in accordance with themob fully in accordance with the mob fully in accordance with themob fully in accordance with the fortress in itself, and could be defended by three armed men against any attrillery. We draw your attention to these facts he field by three armed men against any attrillery. We draw your attention to these facts here for the mob fully understand how competed to sufficient way fully understand how competed with a varieties. We draw your attenti who was one of the parties engaged in the fray, altogether differently; his friends believe one, and his enemies profess to believe the other. It is not our purpose believe the other. It is not our purpose how to dispute as to which was right. The occurrence originated in one of those land disputes so common throughout the whole State, and which have so often resulted in the loss of valuable lives. Tarpay claimed that he fired in self-defense at a man advancing on how with a load. sulled in the loss of valuable lives. Tarpey claimed that he fired in self-defense at a man advancing on him with a loaded pistol, and that the shooting of the woman was purely accidental; while this man in question claimed that Tarpey fired at the woman intentionally. After the shooting Tarpey could have easily made his escape with the means at his command, but he showed no disposition to do so; but on the contrary went directly and gave himself up to the officers of the law. The law-abiding citizens of this district attempted no defense of Tarpey's part in the transaction, but demanded for him a fair trial, to be conducted in accordance with the laws of the State. This his private personal ensures were determined to defeat, an successed but too well. It took the parties here in Watsonwille nearly three day to strouge and infuriate public feeling that unreasoning pitch necessary to enable them to organize a band of desperadoes to proceed to Monterey to do their work. In this they were aided in ever possible way by almost the whole dail press in San Francisco. The Call, the Chronists the Alte, the Post and the Bulletin, in their issues of the 16th and 17th were filled with the most standerous representations of Tarpey's passental character and course of life in this districtions of the slanderous representations of the slanderous representation people of California? We unhesitating ly answer that if the Executive has no more power to enforce the laws than it has heretofore shown we would be far better off if the whole Crimnal Code was abolished with one stroke and the people of each district left to themselves to administer justice in accordance with rules adopted by the majority. There the prudent, conservative and good met of the community would have an opportunity to curb the action of the victous and wicked, who are always governed in tunity to carb the action of the vicious and wicked, who are always governed is their proceeding by had motives.

Such a proceeding as this we acknow edge would be humiliating and disgrace ful to us as a sovereign State, and should in our opinion, render us unworthy of place in the great American Union; yet would be far better than to permit thinks to proceed as they are now goin the proceed as they are now going to the state of t things to proceed as they are now goin on. There have been a series of lyne law executions in this district of countr law executions in this district of country and not in one instance has there eve been any serious effort made by the Executive of the State, or anybody else; the bring the parties engaged in them to accountability and justice. That in mo cases the parties who suffered were known, without any question, to the thickes or murderers, was not, in or onlying an express for this prefect. opinion, an excuse for this neglect of duty on the part of those sworn to set the laws enforced. In two instances it the town of Watsonville an enraged me strangled to death in the most inhuma manner innocent men. One was a Merican of the name of Castro, who was a sected on susping of baying stellar. ican of the name of Castro, who was arested on suspicion of having stolen a rested on suspicion of having stolen a tender of the mob refused him two hour time to enable him to produce proof ohis innocence, and declined to hear any thing he had to say. They rushed him through the streets, in open dayligh with the rope around his neck, an strangled him on a tree near the Pajar river. Two days afterwards his innocence was made menifest to everybody Shortly after this a young American, of general good character, of the name of Dean, had a quarrel with a man of the name of Pomber, in which the latter was sightly wounded. As night closed in after the transaction, the enemies of Dean circulated a report that Pomber. after the transaction, the enemies of Dean circulated a report that Pomber was dying, and by exaggerating and lying accounts of the circumstances which brought about the quarret, succeeding in raising and infursting a crowd, who dragged Dean from his bed at midnight, and through the streets of Watsonville, while he was yelling, begging and crying for help and mercy, to a sign post, where they strangled him in the most unhearded brutal manner, as he fought for his life to the last.

The details of this brutal murder shocked the community, and we had hoped that the lesson would never have been forgotten, yet it has just been paralleled by the inhuman action of the mob at Monterey, where Tarpey was dragged from the embraces of his wife, daughter, aged mother and sister with barbarity beyond belief. There was one difference, however, that Tarpey met his fate with unwavering courage and fortitude; dying as he had lived, the bravest of men. On the night of the 16th, when the first detachment of the mob left scorned the idea of holding his tongue for the sake of gaining favors or popularity of any sort. This characteristic it was that brought upon him the intense enmity of wealthy and influential men in our commulity, whose acts, whether justly or unjustly, he scanned with an unsparing tongue which nothing could conclude.

About five years ago the farmers of this section were harassed almost beyond endirance by a band of horse thieves who had located themselves in the Santa Cruz and Monterey mountains. Almost every morning some farmer found himself robbed of his work stock and rendered almost destitute of means to support his family. This state of things resulted in the formation by the farmers of a Protective Association, and at the unanimous request of the association after it was organized, Matthew Tarpey took command of it. The operations of the committee soon dislodged the robbers from terrible depredations; several thieves were arrested by the committee and handed over to the authorities of Santa Cruz and Monterey counties; soon

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal emission is the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or deprayed sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, via: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves or ratiling of charlots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, biunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a displic to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, less of memory, pimples and various eruptions about the face, heetic flushes, furred tongue, fortid breath, coughs, consumption, high sweats, monomanis and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, you should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME. By addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and currosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use.
